Chinese Celebration of Yin Ling's Birthday.

THE AGED DOWAGER IS POPULAR.

Yellow Flags Floated Everywhere—

A Reception—Music and Fireworks—An Address That Pleased the Large Audience—Text of It.

HE is the greatest individual force in China." This short sentence was the description of a leader of the celebration in honor of the 60th birthday of the mother of China's Emperor. This woman's son came to the throne of the wondrous empire when he was but five years of age. Until the monarch reached his majority the dowager was the ruler. Her ability was so signal and her liking for public affairs so marked that she is to this day a prominent factor in the administration of the throne. When honored with the hand of a prince of the blood the woman was a member of a obscure family. Her own talents earned her the place she so ably occupied. It is common report from the Orient that the dowager will take the conduct of the war from the trembling hands of her son and Li Hung Chang. Observing men who have informed themselves on Chinese polity say that the woman would exert every force of the empire to uphold the honor of the throne. The Chinese delight to honor Yin Ling. In every clime to which a person of the race has been attracted, her praises are sung. In the empire she is simply imperial. To her brain power there is added the most commendable graces of the heart. Her grasp of public matters is equalled only by her knowledge of the needs of the people. She is constantly in touch with the masses. Yin Ling has made herself almost revered by her munificent charities. These have been accompanied by works from the throne for the benefit of the laborers and common people.

In Honolulu the Chinese celebrated the anniversary of Yin Ling's birth quietly but on a pretentious scale. Mr. Ho Foa, of the Hawaiian Chinese News, said they were averse to doing anything that might tend to make friction locally. The exercises were managed by a committee consisting of these business men: Wong Wa Fui, of the Wing Wo Tai Company; Chun Ming, Hop Hing Company; Wong Chow, Yee Wo Chan Company; C. A. At, Yee Chan Company. A purse was made up, the native band engaged and a large quantity of fireworks purchased. There was nothing official about the affair. The only representative of the Chinese Government here is Mr. Goo Kim, the commercial agent. In yesterday's functions he acted simply as a merchant and the president of the United Chinese Society.

Chinatown was profusely decorated. There never was before such a showing of flags and lanterns. Banners had been imported for the occasion. The yellow flag with the fierce, forbidding dragon floated over every Chinese place. At Maunakea and Hotel streets a large Hawaiian flag was draped from a line to the street. At the Chinese engine house the tall flag pole had the yellow cloth with the picture and a long string of shipping signals. The balcony of the building at Hotel and Maunakea was covered with vines and ferns and leaves. It was here that the band played at noon and again in the evening. It was from the balcony that Wong Wa Fui made the address of day.

Goo Kim and the assistant commercial agent and other officers received members and a few friends at the club house of the United Chinese Society on King street. There were feasts of sweetsmeats for those who entered the parlors. The decorations were screens and dollies. The latter were hand worked with golden thread. There were about 150 callers, including a few foreign guests.

There were gatherings at various hours of the day in the new hall of the Chinese Protective Union. This is a new organization carried on by persons entirely friendly to the other society. It is also on King street. The location is near Maunakea. Here some of the mechanics and small merchants talked of the attributes of the Dowager, and wondered if she would step in and end the war victoriously for her country. The Chinese here say that incapable and dishonest officials in their country give the Japanese advantage.

The display of fireworks last evening was from the vacant lot at the corner of Smith and Hotel. It was a fine exhibition and drew a large crowd from all parts of town.

At 6:30 the meeting was held. Wong Wa Fui is said by his countrymen to be a fine orator. He made himself heard and held the close attention of a large audience. The speaker came to Hawaii as a child and has become manager for a heavy wholesale house, as well as a leader in the colony. He said:

"This is the birthday of our beloved Empress Dowager Tsai Hi, and she is 60 years of age. We, her people, must honor her, as she has always treated us as her own children.

"She has done many things for the benefit of our countrymen. She held the power in our country for many years. Her beloved husband, our renowned Emperor, Hang Foong, died about thirty-four years ago, and after his death her son Tung Chee ascended the throne and became the Emperor of China, but he was merely a boy and the empire was actually ruled by the Empress Dowager. Tung Chee reigned only for thirteen years and died, and was succeeded by Kong Sec, our present Emperor. We all understand that our present Emperor was only five years old when he became Emperor, and the country was again under the rule of our beloved Empress Dowager.

"During the reign of the present Emperor, and while our country was under the rule of the Empress Dowager, it was very prosperous. She ruled over 400,000,000 people and she is undoubtedly a woman of good sense. She has made many improvements in our country. A few years ago there were no railroads in China, but now there are several hundred miles of railroad constructed and several important manufacturing establishments in the country. I may say tonight that China is progressive in every respect, and I may predict that China will be, in some of these days, one of the most powerful countries in Asia.

A DESERTER'S ESCAPE.

In Town a Month—Takes a Passport and Leaves.

"Where were the police?" is a question that is being asked in no good-natured way by Col. Fisher and the regimental authorities.

On October 6th Private Richard Maynard deserted from the barracks. He was posted as a runaway at headquarters and the facts, with a description, sent to the police department.

Col. Fisher visited the custom house on business yesterday morning. He happened to glance at the passport record and was surprised to see the name of Richard Maynard, big as life. On November 2d the man was given leave by the customs people to sail as a passenger on the Kikikat.

Col. Fisher at once inquired about the Kikikat. He learned that she was about to leave the harbor. He set things in motion immediately. It was too late. The vessel was proudly moving in the offing, bearing northwest with all her canvas spread.

Maynard had been around town just a month.

A Meeting for Ladies Only.

On Thursday night there will be an unusual meeting at the Salvation Army barracks on King street. It will be for ladies only. The Salvationists desire the ladies of Honolulu to co-operate with them in a special line of work. The hour is 7:30.

Culminations of Campaigns in the United States.

HAS BEEN MUCH EARNST WORK.

Seventeen Sets of Congressmen and Legislators Were Chosen—Compilation of the Latest News and Comment Spicy Notes on Men and Issues.

About half the papers of the United States have roosters on the front page this morning. An important election was held yesterday. Congressmen and Legislators were chosen in seventeen States. The campaign was an earnest one. The tariff was the issue and the people were thoroughly roused about it. Business men are in politics this time because of the Wilson bill. Trade-unionists have taken a hand. The army of unemployed has been battling. Feeling was churned up to a fever heat in every community.

There is always much doubt about how an election will result. The preliminaries are extremely deceiving. All the papers of the States have made claims. Not one of the ADVERTISER'S exchanges has given a careful forecast. Below are some notes culled from the papers. Every line will interest the Americans who remember the way a good campaign makes the blood tingle.

Not an important newspaper in New York is supporting Tammany. There will be no less than nine State tickets on the Illinois ballot.

Hon. Tim Campbell, the New York Democratic Congressman, has come out for protection.

Two members of the Democratic State Central Committee of Michigan have resigned in disgust.

Shares in English iron companies have advanced rapidly since the passage of the Senate Tariff bill.

Mr. Reed thinks the Republicans will have the next House "from the way things are tumbling."

Governor Abbott of New Jersey has announced that he is not a candidate for United States Senator.

In Connecticut only 3000 women out of the 170,000 cast ballots for the candidates they were privileged to vote for.

From indications 25 to 30 per cent. of the Hibernian vote in Chicago this fall would be Republican.

Colonel Breckenridge is out for the Senate, and is making fair headway in Carter and Elliott counties, Ky.

Vice President Stevenson's swing through Missouri has met with a grand ovation at all the stopping-places.

The Republicans expected to poll from 200,000 to 250,000 more votes than the Democrats in Pennsylvania.

It is said that the Havemeyers have flatly refused to contribute to the Democratic campaign fund this year.

Ladies will vote for trustees of the University under the new law of Illinois, and registration is said to be quite brisk.

Senator Kyle is endeavoring to prove to South Dakotans that his vote for free wool was the right thing for him to do.

The Nebraska courts have decided the Bryan faction of the ticket the one to be designated on the ticket as Democratic.

About 7000 people listened to Mr. Reed at Chicago. An overflow Republican meeting was held a few doors away.

Ex-Secretary Fairchild says that Hill has debauched and degraded the organization of the Democratic party of New York State.

On the first day of the registration in New York city the total of names entered was 102,906, as against 68,920 on the first day of the last year.

The registration in Louisville is heavier than ever before—a fact attributed to the general dissatisfaction of business men with the party in power.

The registration in New York city and Brooklyn up to the close of last week was more than 19 per cent. greater than in the Presidential year of 1892.

If Chairman Wilson should be defeated for Congress in West Virginia, his friends will support him for Camden's place in the United States Senate.
